Roy Duncan, Candidate for Supervisor of Fifth District, States Policy in Open Letter

To the Voters: I came to the Forest Hill Divide when a boy and have made it my home ever since. I have many friends, and regardless of the outcome of this fight, I wish them still to remain my friends.

Roy E. Duncan

I have made no promises and expect to make none, other than that I shall endeavour to serve the people of my district to the best of my ability. My greatest ambition will be to cooperate with the taxpayers and voters of the Fifth District and Placer County as a whole. I expect to conduct a clean campaign, as I do not believe in abuse or misstatements of any kind.

I feel that I am fully qualified for the office through my experience in road work, both in construction and maintenance, having had four years experience in the Tahoe National Forest Service as road equipment operator.

If elected, I will give all of these my careful and conscientious care and attention. I shall specialize on good roads AT ALL TIMES, and will do everything possible for the betterment of my district.

COUNTY TO GET $9,023 FOR ROADS

Appropriations to Counties Made from State's Vehicle Registration Fee for First Six Months of this Year.

Of the total of $3,147,763 from counties' share of the state's $6,295,256 collected from registration fees on 2,245,042 motor vehicles during the first six months of this year, Nevada county will receive $9,023.89.

This was revealed in a report this week from the state department of motor vehicles, released through the United Press. The money will be used for maintenance and new construction work.

The record registration on motor vehicles from January 1 to June 30 brings an increase of 167,292 cars on California's highways, the report said, and adds $729,940 to the revenue received from licenses to be apportioned to state and county road development.

Los Angeles county, with a total of 911,648 motor vehicles, will receive the major share of the apportionment, the department said, $1,278,267 going to that area.

Alameda, San Francisco and San Diego are the only other counties in the state receiving more than $100,000 each from the fund.

RED SHIRTS ARE TO INVADE FORESTS

U. S. Forest Rangers, acting as neutral observers in California's annual campaign against 270,000 mule and black tail deer in the state, predict that a volunteer army of 120,000 red shirts will take the field this year. If this forecast is correct, some 900 tons of venison will be discussed in council at the dinner tables with the chiefs of staff and their red shirt husbands. For every rifleman who comes home with his bonus there will be about seven who will have to explain to the reparations committee who he will absorb the cost of his campaign out of his lunch money and why he didn't do better shooting.

Although deprived of the use of machine guns, airplanes and gas, and forbidden to set fire to the territory occupied by the deer, an army of 119,600 hunters brought down 17,526 bucks in 1935. Forest rangers find that red shirts gained six per cent in numbers over the previous year and the kill was twelve per cent greater, showing that the boys are now better marksmen or the deer more careless.

As part of forest service management studies, made to enable the red shirts to continue this annual campaign, rangers took notes on 8500 of the bucks killed for weight, condition, antler class and locality. This will enable them to determine the geographical distribution, intensity of hunting, the average sized animal and the effectiveness of the 36 state and two federal game refuges covering over 2 million acres in the national forests of California.

In general the rangers found that there is a normal increase in the California deer herd estimated now at 126,000 black tail and 145,000 mule deer in spite of a reduction in black tail in certain parts of the state caused by illegal hunting. Predatory animals are responsible for more than double the number of deer killed by hunters.

STATE-WIDE SURVEY OF ROADS IS PLANNED

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 6 — (UP) — A long-term program of road and highway improvement for California will be possible as the result of a state-wide survey now under way by the state department of public works.

The survey, financed by $228,000 of federal funds, has three major factors by which it will seek to accomplish the following ends:

1—Select an integrated highway system to include all roads to be improved within the next 20 years, and indicate priority of improvement.

2—Record the present condition of all parts of the selected mileage in respect to traffic serviceability, and indicate the amount, kind, and cost of further improvement required to reach fully satisfactory serviceability.

3—Budget highway appropriations of a considerable future period, and indicate sources from which necessary funds should be and can be obtained, properly related to benefits conferred.

"The project actually is divided into four studies," said T. H. Dennis state highway maintenance engineer. "One study, the road inventory, has already commenced. Plans for two other studies, a traffic census and a truck and bus survey, are nearing completion.

"In recording the development contiguous to the roads, farm units, industrial and commercial enterprise, public utilities, residences and places of congregation all will be noted. From these data it will be possible to estimate the distribution of population for comparatively small areas or mileage of road. An estimate of the seasonal population of recreational areas can be made in the same manner."

EMPLOYMENT SERVICE AIDS JOB SEEKERS

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 6 — (UP) — Duirng the first fiscal year since its affiliation with the United States employment service, the California state employment service has placed 294,014 persons in jobs, officials reported here.

Of the total jobs filled, more than half the number were in public and private industry at prevailing rates of wages and many were of a permanent nature, the report said.

A substantial increase in employment was seen in that phase of the report which revealed 128,285 placements for the six-month period between July 1 and December 31, 1935, and 165,729 placements in the period of January 1 to June 30, 1936.

"The employemnt service is not to be confused with a relief agency," said Director Roy S. Stockton. "It had no direct financial aid to offer any applicant. It can refer an applicant to a job only when an employer has given notice that he has a job to offer.

"Although the service can never guarantee a job, each applicant who enters an employment office has a right to personal attention—to a sympathetic hearing devoid of indifferences or sentimentality — and to confidence that he or she will receive consideration on any job for which he is qualified."

Shockton said the employment service should not be regarded as a panacea for unemployment, but that it is "a keystone upon which many programs for the alleviation of unemployemnt must rest."

"In each community, the employment service is now a recognized and essential government service," he added.

At the present time the service maintains offices in Bakersfield, Fresno, Los Angeles, Oakland, Sacramento, San Bernardino, San Jose and Stockton. Branches and affiliated services with county and municipal bureaus in addition are located in Berkeley, Long Beach, Los Angeles, Palo Alto, Pasadena, Santa Monica, Hayward, Ontario, Redlands, Lodi, Culver City, Pomona, San Fernando and San Pedro.

COMMENTS FROM CALIFORNIA NEWSPAPERS

By United Press

THE MERRIAM RECALL MOVEMENT

"Political soreheads" are responsible for the movement to recall Governor Merriam at the November election, in the opinion of many California editors.

Anyway, it was agreed, the forthcoming presidential ballotting should not be confused by such an issue.

"Poor losers in California's last gubernatorial election," said the Marysville Appeal-Democrat, "have been trying to cook up a recall against Governor Merriam, almost from the time he took office. The various abortive efforts so far have fizzled out almost before they started. Now, however, one has developed in Los Angeles, evidently plentifully heeled with what it takes, to bring the recall to a ballot in November. You can get sufficient signatures to put anything in the world on the ballot, provided enough paid solicitors can be placed in the field."

"Only the approach of the silly season," comments the San Francisco News, "can account for the amount of newspaper space currently being wasted in reporting various movements to recall Gov. Merriam. We elected Mr. Merriam for what he was, and the vast majority of the voters of California are too good sports to punish him for being just that. A recall, experience has demonstrated repeatedly, is made by the voters only when an officeholder steals pennies from a blind man or enrages the electorat on som burning issue."

"The electors of California," notes the Chico Record, "decided that they wanted Frank Merriam for governor for four years. He has been a member of the legislature for many years and they knew his general attitude on the major controversial issues and he has administered the affairs of the state true to form. Now comes a group of dissatisfied electors who would put the state to an enormous expense of an unsuccessful recall, and this based upon unsubstantiated charges of incompetency and abuse of political power. Governor Merriam has averaged well as a governor. He has no doubt been guilty of error, according to our viewpoint, at times, and there is much to his credit."

"The sponsors of the recall petitions," according to the Orange Daily News, "remain under cover. No responsible leader has seen fit to take the people into his confidence. The movement is furtive and secret. Th recall has been used for the purpose of promoting the interests of individuals before now but has never before been directed at a governor. There is something sinister in a campaign with no visible head and no apparent purpose. It has the hall mark of a racket which seems to work in shadows."

"Experience has shown," states the San Rafael Independent, "that the voters will recall no official from governor down to town marshal, without ample cause. Ninety-nine per cent of such movements have proved both fruitless and costly. To make over the administration of state law—to root out inefficiency and privilege, to install systems making graft, corruption and treasury looting more difficult—that will require a mandate from the voters themselves. The governor alone can't do it. Nor can any group of disgruntled politicians. The only way of attaining this desirable end is through a constructive program which we are unlikely to obtain from political soreheads."

"Governor Merriam," concludes the San Francisco Chronicle, "was elected after a campaign in which there were no illusions. Both his strong and his weak points were fully realized. They are no different now. There is no reason for recalling him now that would not have been an equally persuasive motive for defeating him then. The people very properly decided, then, that on the whole case Mr. Merriam should be elected. On the same whole case, he should now be retained."

IT'S HIS MONEY

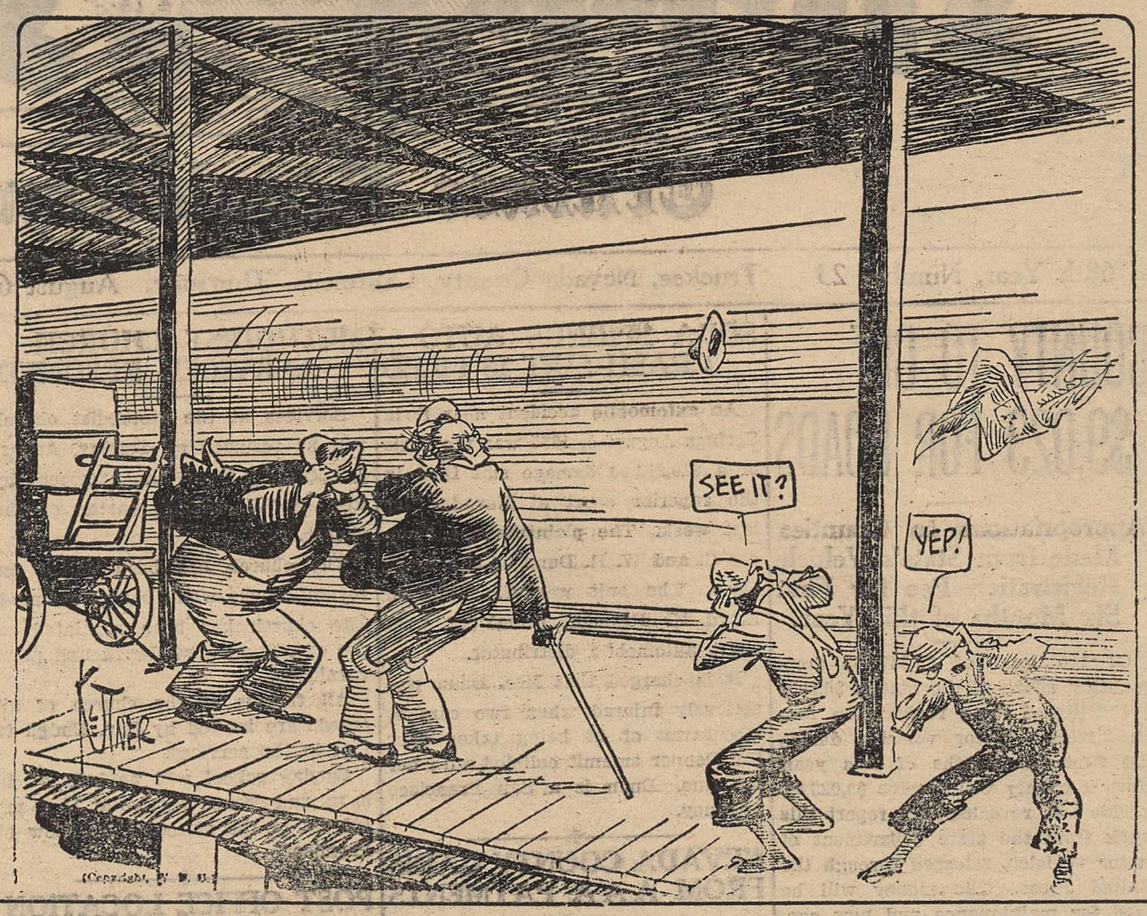

Bright visions of new and better highways were dangling before the eyes of Californians the other day when the state reported that gas tax collections for the fiscal year ending June 30 had hit a new high of $46,847,585, some seven millions more than the previous year.

But as funds for highway use go on growing, there is one aspect about it all that dulls the bright picture somewhat for the motorist. Of course he knows the needs of commerce must be served, and that he must suffer the highways he's paid for to be pounded heavily by great fleets of trucks and buses.

The motorist does, however, have one request which sounds not so unreasonable. It is that the state adjust contributions to highway costs so that commercial vehicles pay in proportion to the wear and tear they inflict. It is that the state check the all too rapid increase of these vehicles, and exercise its power to keep their number proportionate to the needs of commerce. Where one fleet is sufficient, the motorist can see no reason for permitting two to operate.

How much brighter this vision of new and better highways would be if the motoring public knew these matters would be taken care of. As more and more gas tax funds flow into the treasury, the state should not ignore the motorist's request. After all, it's his money.

Watching the Flyer Go Through

OZARK HILLS

There is a certain relationship between the trees and the hills of the lower Ozark regions that even the most experienced of observers are at a loss to explain accurately. It seems as if the verdant hills and spirelike pines are continually reaching, with craggy hands and leafy fingers, for the skies. If the relationship is one of opposition, then the hills are dragging the trees back from the clouds, and the trees are pressing the hills down into darkness but if it is one of cooperation—and it probably is—the hills are pushing the trees upward and the trees are pulling with all their strength to raise the hills from the shadows to the sunlight. Yes, it must be cooperation; if it weren't, the trees and hills would never have reached the heights that they have.

The Ozark hills, like men, have their moments. He who sees them at sunrise sees them in their beauty; he who sees them at noon sees them in their grandeur; but he who sees them at sunset sees them in both their beauty and their grandeur. Fortunate is he who sees them at sunset.

The sun's first rays reveal the lower stretches of the hills glistening with dew, their rounded summits enveloped in a cloudlike mist. The green of the pines is acentuated by the sparkle of the tiny drops of moisture, and the rolling sweep of the hills is brought more poignantly to the eye as the mist rises. The music of the brooks mingles with the singing of the birds and the rustle of the early breezes.

Under the fierce noonday sun, the hills are emblazoned with light. They are erect and watchful in the quiet air, like giant sentinels standing guard over the valleys and streams below.

But when the sun is sinking and the western skies are dressed in the soft pastel shades of a summer evening, the hills stand in dark and imposing silhouettes. Their western halves, still bathed in light, bid the hastening day a grateful farewell; their eastern slopes, dark and foreboding, defy the coming of the night.

Politically Speaking

By GEORGE E. HELMER
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Aug 6—(UP)—State officials are jittery over the anticipated flood of suits expected as the result of a Los Angeles court order requiring the reinstatement of eight workers of the board of equalization who were discharged immediately prior to the deadline when the state civil service act became effective.

The court decision paves the way for any number of court actions and opens the door for a series of "spoils system" accusations not particularily welcomed by the administration at this time.

The ruling represented the climax to a series of charges exchanged by Gov. Frank F. Merriam and Ray L. Edgar, Los Angeles member of the board of equalization, in which each accused the other of being the source of the list which named the board employes to be dismissed "for the good of the service."

Edgar accuses the governor of dictating the list and the chief executive said his appointee brought in the names of those persons who were on the administration black list.

Regardless of the origin of the list, the court ruled that the workers should be given the jobs and back salaries, and the door was left open for any number of similar suits by former employes who were given the axe immediately prior to the time the new civil service act became effective.

With a threat of recall still in the air and numerous other problems pestering the administration, political observers at the capitol watched with interest what they termed political backfiring.

Following a conference here between Gov. Merriam and Earl Warren, Alameda county district attorney and the state's Republican leader, an announcement was made that the Republican party in California was one big happy family, and that Merriam and Warren had reconciled their differences and agreed to back Gov. Alf M. Landon, Republican nominee, for the presidency.

The governor previously had headed the group favoring a delegation instructed in favor of Landon, and Warren was the leader of the so-called uninstructed delegation.

After the peace pipe had been smoked by all members of the Grand Old Party, friends of the governor made casual mention of the fact that they understood Warren was going to run for the post of attorney general of the state.

Inasmuch as Warren previously had been mentioned as one of the outstanding candidates for the governor's office in the event of a recall, or at the next election, in any event, the report was considered by may to be one of those wish-being-father-to-the-thought propositions.

It has been said many times that you never can tell what will happen in politics. Perhaps this is the best explanation for a situation which exists in California at the present time in connection with the tie-in between state and national political campaigns.

One of the outstanding charges of the Republican party in its campaign to prevent the re-election of President Franklin Delano Roosevelt has been the assertion that the president "retarded recovery" as far as the country was concerned in its attempt to throw off the depression.

California, headed by a republican governor and presumably a republican administration, apparently is completely out of step with this sentiment.

At the last meeting of the governor's cabinet, the reports of various departmental directors were the most optimistic in years, pointing out that financial, real estate and building activities were one a high plane and that the state's economic condition was unusually favoable.

One Language, One People

THE expression, "to speak the same language," is a common one. But speaking the same language may mean more than having a vocabulary in common. Figuratively, it implies having certain experiences in common; that is, having a similar outlook from which we may understand one another more readily.

Words alone have never proved to be a guarantee of understanding, even among members of the same family. Confidence and respect are not always brought about or maintained by talking—very often quite the contrary. Agreement is not always arrived at through discussions. While being able to talk freely together sometimes helps us to understand one another's thoughts, and should make it possible to understand one another's point of view, words do not invariably indicate one's thoughts, and talking together may produce a result quite unlike agreement.

Certainly, if we would gain anything more than a superficial sense of friendship and co-operation, we must go farther than mere words. It is apparent that between individuals and nations friendliness involves a considerable degree of what is called understanding. Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, reminds us (Miscellaneous Writings, p. 262) that "when the heart speaks, however simple the words, its language is always acceptable to those who have hearts." And she explains this in her sermon, "The People's Idea of God," where she says (p. 13), "This all-important understanding is gained in Christian Science, revealing the one God and His all-power and ever-presence, and the brotherhood of man in unity of Mind and oneness of Principle." In order to recognize our true relation to each other, we must be aware of the basic oneness of God as Principle.

True understanding is of God—spiritual. Until one realizes this, no unanimity of thought can be consistently manifested. The belief that personal familiarity may breed contempt leaves no assurance that intimate association on a human basis will promote a better understanding between individuals. Evidently, agreement must be sought in acquainting ourselves with man's real qualities, qualities which proceed from divine Mind, God.

Since God is All-in-all, the children of God, the one Mind, have, in reality, an inheritance of united thinking. The brotherhood of man depends for its very being on the fatherhood of God. In proportion as we understand that in our real being we are all the offspring of one Father, ideas of one infinite Mind, our companionship and co-operation are assured, whatever may be the personal or racial differences. Brotherly love, then, is not an old wives' fable, but is based on the Science of being.

Jesus repeated the commands of Moses: "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind;" and, "Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself" (Matthew 22:37, 39). The allness of creative Mind, God, establishes the essential unity of all Mind's ideas. The understanding that God is the source of all true thought and action makes men brethren. The acceptance and understanding of the infinity of God, good, is the only basis for genuine unanimity. When we seek the divine way, we shall find that we have true sympathy in our relation to each other. We shall perceive that it is divinely natural to live and think unitedly.

The discovery of God's universal law of spiritual accord, and the natural result of applying this law in the thoughts and lives of men, give us confidence to overcome what may appear to be insuperable differences of human opinion. We find that man is the image of God, Love. In His universe is no Babel of tongues, no confusion of many minds. Here is assurance of the possibility of a perfect reconciliation, and we begin to understand what St. Paul meant when he said, "Wherefore putting away lying, speak every man truth with his neighbour; for we are members one of another" (Ephesians 4:25). . . .—The Christian Science Monitor.

TAHOE REGION NEWS

By Swanee

Bud Moran, former Bal Bijou bartender declared on last Thursday he would plead "not guilty" when given a preliminary hearing before Justice of the Peace George R. Bliss at Tahoe City.

Witnesses at the hearing included Highway Patrolman Gene Walker of Tahoe who arrested Moran and charged him with drunken driving after the wreck on July 26. This accident occurred two miles west of Brockway Vista when Moran wrecked the car of his companion, Mrs. Eleanor Hitchcock, Bijou waitress of Phoenix, Ariz., and the vehicle of E. L. Lee of Brockway, whose truck driver, Tom Fannon, is credited with subduing Moran at the scene of the wreck when he became unmanageable. Lee testified the car Moran was driving had passed him at a high rate of speed only a few moments before the accident.

G. B. Christie, Cal-Neva filling station proprietor, testified that a car answering the description of the wrecked car, had passed through his station at excessive speed, the driver ignoring all traffic signals.

Dr. William A. Carrol of San Francisco, vacationing at Brockway, who attended and examined Mrs. Hitchcock both at the scene of the wreck and at the Brockway Hotel later, testified that as much of the Romberg sobriety test as was possible had been given Moran at that time and he had found him in a state of "acute alcoholism." The woman, he said, had suffered a compound fracture of both leg bones with skin lacerations, possible concussion of the brain, and was severely shocked. She told Dr. Carrol "We were across the line drinking and I wanted to drive home, but Bud wouldn't let me. I didn't want him to drive the car but he said he was all right."

Assistant District Attorney C. E. Tindal of Auburn, who conducted the state's case, declared that enough evidence had been presented to believe the defendant was the driver of the car and undr the influence of intoxicating liquor at the time of the wreck. Bail was set at $1,000 and he was returned to Auburn jail in custody of Constable Lou Allen. Date for the trial in superior court at Auburn will be set soon.

Accompanying the party back to Auburn on Thursday also was William F. Pender, asserted former Los Angeles bank employe who was arrested on a warrant sworn out by Carl Bechdolt of Tahoe Inn. Pender wrote a check on the Bank of America for $200 without the necessary funds in the bank. He is said to have received a three year suspended sentence in a Los Angeles court last June for a similar offense. It is probable that he will be returned to the sourthen city to serve out his sentence.

Marshall Anderson, 18 months old son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Anderson of Lindsay, Califoria, who are visiting at the home of Anderson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Anderson of Homewood, had a narrow escape from death on last Thursday. when he ate some matches left within his reach. Dr. C. E. Pederson of the Tavern, who was hastily summoned, found the little fellow blue with convulsions. For more than four hours the doctor worked to save his life, using an oxygen tank. His efforts were rewarded and the baby has apparently recovered without any serious injurious after effects.

The F. O. Burkets of Los Angeles, Tahoe park residents, left on Wednesday for Oregon where they will enjoy a fishing trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Coopersmith of Beverley Hills are sojourning at Tahoe park for a week.

Harry Bear, well known at Tahoe where he and his wife visit each year in the spring and fall, has been removed from the Hobart Mills hospital and taken to the Veterans' hospital in San Francisco where he is recovering fram two broken legs suffered a half hour after his arrival at Tahoe this spring. Mrs. Bear, now at Tahoe, plans to return to San Francisco shortly.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Debenedetti, Sr. last week entertained a group of prominent out-of-town guests at a barbecue dinner, swimming and boating party. Their guests included Mayor Rossi's sister, Mrs. Julia Wessel and her niece, Mrs. Willard Glazer, William Glazer and Mrs. John McLaughlin and daughters Betty and Jean; Mr. and Mrs. George Percy Mr. and Mrs. John Omizzola and daughter June, Mrs. Charles Bulotti, Mrs. George Schoening and niece, Violet, all of San Francisco; Mrs. Lena Chism of Sutter Creek, Leo Boccacio and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Dellamora of Santa Cruz; Mr. and Mrs. John Terrance Gidre and infant son of Stockton and the Misses Joan and Rose Mary Debenedetti, Miss Regina Cuneo and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Debenedetti, Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Van Norman of Los Angeles will vacation at the J. Charles Harris residence in Timberland tract for the next two weeks. Mr. Van Norman, an insurance executive of the southern city, is a former president of the Los Angeles Board of Education.

Parents and pupils alike will be pleased to learn that Tahoe branch of the Placer Union high school has at last won in their long fight for an additional teacher to assist Mrs Bliss Hinkle. The new teacher, who will arrive in time to begin instruction at the opening of high school on August 24, is Mary Pronzato of Fort Bragg. She is a graduate of the University of California, with a master's degree from Stanford, and will teach commercial subjects and Spanish.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Walker of Alameda were recent visitors at the S. M. Henry home in Tahoe City over the week end. Mr. Walker, employed on the famous China Clipper, was married at the Henry home more than a year ago.

Miss Theda Prusso has returned to Oakland following a month's vacation at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Everett E. Prusso of Forest Inn and Gardens on Ward creek.

Paul Eichberry, local freight truck driver, was fined $100 on Thursday by Justice of the Peace George Bliss of Tahoe City for reckless driving and failing to stop and render aid after having struck another car, injuring its occupant, Mrs. Jack Malcolm. Mrs. Malcolm received a badly injured arm which has remained numb since the accident. The mishap occurred at Hogpen hill, the large truck forcing Mrs. Malcolm's car from the highway into a ditch, a projecting timber causing most of the damage.

E. J. Weber of Tahoe City must enjoy keeping his car in the column's news, for last week it again figured in a minor accident. Leaving it parked on the highway in town with the ignition on and the car in gear, Mr. Weber departed. Seeing the car somewhat in the way of traffic, Henry's garage sent one of their cars over to push the machine out of the way. But it needed no pushing, for with the first jolt it was on its merry way, which happened to be toward the same bank it went over the week previously. Its flight was curtailed when it struck another car in the line of progress, both cars suffering minor damages.

Miss Roxana Holmes of Clarksburg, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Holmes have a summer home at Carnelian Bay where they vacation annually, has been selected as a delegate to the Infernation convetion of the Sigma Kappa sorority to be held at Denver, Colorado Aug. 31 to September 3. Miss Holmes is president of the University of California chapter and a trio of honor societies. She is well known at Tahoe.

Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Westphal of Westlake in the Sunnyside district, were hosts on Sunday evening to a group of friends who gathered to observe the birthday of Mr. Westphal's mother, Mrs. Laura Westphal. Swain, Mr. and Mrs. John Taylor of Los Angeles, Dr. and Mrs. Ootto Westphal of Redwood City, who are guests of the Westphal family, Ed Ginberg of San Francisco, Clifford Smith and Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Westphal. Many lovely presents were received by the honoree from her host of friends.

A delightful dinner was tendered Everett E. Prusso of Prusso's Forest Inn and Gardens on the occasion of his forthy-second birthday last Friday night. The man in charge of the banquet was Chef Martini. Highlights of the feast were the boned roast chickens, stuffed and browned, the decorated sour cream cake, steeped for four months in choice old brandy, the gift of its creator, 81-year-old Mrs. Madge Spielman of Oakland, and the miniture replica of Mount Whitney in eruption, which proved to be a fluffy white egg souffle piled high with ice cream beneath, into the top of which brandy was poured and lighted. Those who sat at the long table were Mr. and Mrs. Everett Prusso, Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Kilner, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Darlin and M. and Mrs. Charles A. Swanson. At a second table were seated Donnie, Ray and Sherwood Prusso and Jimmie Swanson, who echoed the praise and delight voiced by their elders.

On Friday night two large neon electric signs were placed in operation at Prusso's. Lighted, they shed a pale green and aqua blue glow upon the gardens, a sign being placed on each side of the entrance.

Funds are being supplied by the county and they will continue to work on this much needed project until the money available is exhausted. It is being generally hoped that they will be able to clear passage all the way into Rubicon

Grasshoppers Add to Woes of Drouth

A plague of grasshoppers which swept over the northwest added its toll to the heavy damage exacted by the drouth. Photo shows scene on a North Dakota farm which was stripped by the pests. Only a few stubs of corn stalks remained after the horde descended on the field.

Springs hotel grounds as this is one of the loveliest spots to visit in the entire Tahoe region, as well as being famous in the early day history of the state. Fishermen and buck hunters will welcome easy access to one of the favorite fishing and hunting grounds of the region, and many of those who enjoy the health-promoting mineral springs water at Rubicon will be able again to fill their jugs to take home.

The work of remodeling Tahoe's highway between Brockway and Tahoe City is progressing with speed and efficiency. It does seem that with Hogpen hill now widened and smoothly surfaced there should be no more excuse for further accidents on this formerly dangerous curve. The stretch in front of the fish hatchery campgrounds is finished. So delighted are local residents to have the road repaired that no complaints are being voiced by those who must wait in line for the control car where one-way passage is necessary at the scene of immediate operations. Another bit of roadwork which has been noted is the stretch leading into Tahoe Tavern off the main highway which this year is minus the ruts and chuck holes of other years, having been repaired early in the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Matt Green have leased the Harden residence in Lake Forest for the summer season.

Mr. V. S. McClatchy of Sunnyside found it necessary to have his hand lanced three different times last week following the bite of an insect which caused a painful swelling.

Major and Mrs. Arthur Crist are this week starting an addition to their summer home in Tahoe Pines, adding several bedrooms and baths.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Oliver of the Sunnyside district were hosts on Tuesday evening at a charming cocktail hour at their home on the lake shore, with 75 persons attending.

Mr. and Mrs. V. Perino of Bright were week end guests at the George Bacchi home in Lake Forest.

Miss Sarah Bacchi of Sacramento will spend the summer at the Bacchi home here.

Fall reared its head prematurely at Tahoe on Tuesday when sudden winds brought intermittent rain showers and thunder. Many campers packed up and left the region for home. Heavy breakers crashed the shores, endangering large and small craft tied to moorings.

NORDEN NEWS

This assisted in alleviating the sultry conditions for several days, at the same time settling the dust and rendering the pasture lands much-needed water which is welcomed by the various cattlemen.

The Harm Construction company of Sacramento, which has been working on Highway 40 in and about Norden, has completed its work here and is packing up and moving to Sacramento. At one time 40 men were given employment.

Because he was not able to get the required amount of rest while a resident of Norden, Robert Ralston has moved into quarters at Eder Wall job.

STATE FINGERPRINT FILES ARE THE MOST COMPLETE IN WEST

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 6 — (UP) — With 610,421 sets of fingerprints in its files, California's state bureau of criminal identification has become one of the most complete agencies of its kind west of the Mississippi river, according to Clarence S. Morrill, chief.

Because of the aliases of many of the criminals, the bureau carries a file of 943,065 crime index cards, officials said.

In an annual report covering activities of the agency, Morrill said that 33,035 felonies were committed in California for the fiscal year which ended June 30.

The crimes were reported to the bureau by California peace officers included the following:

Burglaries, 21,506; fictitious check cases, 2,068; forgeries, 1,069; grand thefts, 963; murders, 182; robberies, 3,142; thefts from persons, 666; miscellaneous crimes, 3,439.

In view of substantially larger homicide figures usually reported in the death files of the state department of public health, it was conceded by crime division officials that the murder total, on final check, probably would exceed the tentative figure of 182.

The report revealed that, for the first time in the bureau's history, the flood of fingerprints last month exceeded 10,000. The list was augmented by returns from the fingerprinting of liquor license applicants in Southern California.

PRESIDENT SLATED TO ADDRESS 20 - 30 MEET

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 6 — (UP) — President Roosevelt may address the national convention of 20-30 clubs in Stockton during September, according to Jack Mayne, secretary of the organization.

Mayne said he had been informed the president's itinerary for a proposed visit to California next fall had not been completed and that the invitation would be considered.

Approximately 1500 delegates from 160 clubs in 12 western states are expected to attend the convention, to be held September 3 to 6.

Reserves Commission Action Is Questioned

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 6 — (UP) — Operation of the California unemployment reserves commission will not be affected should the supreme court rule in favor of a Berkeley hotel in a test case filed recently, according to Carl Hyde, executive officer of the commission.

The suit, he said, challenges comparatively minor provisions of the act and adjustments could be made if it is sustained. The hotel questions the right of the state to send money collected for the unemployment reserves system to a federal depository in Washington.

In event of an adverse decision, Hyde said, arrangements could be made to invest the funds in federal reserve banks located in California.

Justice Of Peace Lets Goat Get Out Of Control

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 6 — (UP) — A suit involving his own goat proved no goat-getter for Justice of the Peace Luther McAdams of Center Township.

James O'Donnell claimed the McAdams goat led a band of sheep into his field of oats. He asked damages and punishment from the owner.

Justice McAdams promptly agreed to pay for the damage, and reprimanded himself for not keeping the animal in his own backyard.

Sale of State Warrants For Relief on August 7

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 6 — (UP) — Sale of $1,500,000 of state registered warrants to finance unemployemnt relief will be held August 7, State Controller Ray L. Riley reported.

The IOU's probably will carry 3½ per cent interest, as against four per cent for previous issues, it was indicated. This action would be in accordance with a ruling of Attorney General U. S. Webb to the effect that the state warrant commission is authorized to vary the rate on different issues of warrants.

Because of the prevailing market for state warrants, Riley expressed belief a reduction in the interest rate would be justified.

All-Time Record is Set For Fish, Game Receipts During Period in 1935-36

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 6 — (UP) — An all-time record in receipts for the fiscal year 1935-36 was reported by the state division of fish and game, according to H. R. Dunbar, chief of the bureau of licenses.

A total of $1,437,647 was taken in during the year, as compared with $1,273,441 in 1934-35, a gain of $164,206. The previous high was the $1,431,786 in 1929-30.

Increases over the previous year were shown in sale of hunting licenses, deer tags, angling licenses, commercial fishing licenses, game breeders' licenses, and in court fines for violations of fish and game code.

"The biggest single increase in revenue was derived from the sale of angling licenses which totalled $541,629.50 in 1935-36 as compared with $428,982 the previous year, or an increase of $112,647," the division reported.

Other revenue sources increasing during the period included:

Hunting license sales, $370,254, an increase of $50,702 court fines, $49,469, an increase of $13,068; commercial fishing license sales, $63,250, an increase of $9,540; deer tag sales, $110,807, an increase of $1,884; game breeders' license sales, $1,305, an increase of $212.50.

"A decrease of $26,887 was reported in the return on the fish packers' privilege tax," the report said. "During the fiscal year of 1935-36, a total of $278,498 was paid by California fish packing plants as compared with $305,386 the previous 12-month period, which is the largest return ever made by the industry.

"Small decreases also were shown in the sale of trapping licenses, fish greeders' licenses, fish importers' licenses, hunting club licenses and hunting club operators' licenses.

Old time residents believed the remains were those of two Chinese hanged for robbing miners' sluce boxes.

Complete Free List of Merchants is Prepared

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 6 — (UP) — A complete official list of California licensed commission merchants, produce dealers, processors and their agents is ready for free distribution, the state department of agriculture announced.

The list contains approximately 6,000 names and addresses. It carries a record of all persons or firms authorized to buy farm products, handle them on commission, or resell them in dried, canned, or other processed or preserved form.
